Action Front was the command given to artillery units during the Civil War to have the cannons moved into position for battle.

This piece of music was written for my grandson, Julian, for his second birthday. He is very fond of marching music, and usually marches around the house when marches are played (sometimes playing on the rope-tension drum that I gave him, "peck' basket over his head for a helmet!).

I hope that you enjoy playing and listening to Action Front.
